GEORGE LOCKE ON TOP AT CANADARAGO

George Locke had little trouble producing a winning pattern on a day that only saw only 5 limits brought to the scales. Most of the 34 angler field struggled to figure out the cold front-high water conditions. More than half the field weighed in two fish or less. The ability to adapt to unfavorable conditions is the reason that George is no stranger to the leader board.

This was the first tournament of the year for Albany that an angler could cash without catching a limit. This was also the first tournament in many years that there were more anglers without a single fish than anglers with limits.

There was also an unconfirmed report of a silver haired man in a maroon Ford pickup being pulled over for speeding after the tournament.
